Enrollment

| Total | 1601 | $100 \%$ | 1495 | $100 \%$ | 1032 | $100 \%$ | $\mathbf{4 1 2 8}$ |

Figure F. In Fall, there are more students continuing from the previous year, followed by the number of new students, and a low number of returning students. This has been the trend for the past 6 years. Recently, the number of returning students and new students is beginning to recline while the number of returning students have increased.

Figure G. The trend in Spring semesters show that New enrollment and Returning enrollment are very low. There are more Returning students who enroll during the Spring Semester. This has been consistent for the past 6 years.

2006-07 ASTEP Enrollment

Figure J. For the 2005-2006 Academic School year, 50\% of the students were enrolled part time and 50\% were enrolled full time. Summer has the highest number of Full time and Fall has the highest number of Part time students.
